

TRADE DIRECTORIES IN THE LIBRARY OF THE INSTITUTE OF HERALDIC AND GENEALOGICAL STUDIES

Directories for large towns can date from around the middle of the 18th Century and County Directories from early 19th Century. Early Directories usually merely contain a list of the local traders, however, these were expanded to include topographical details and private residents and later a commercial section relating to the whole county.

Trade and Court Directories are an important source for locating an address to use when searching the census enumerator's returns, however, when using a directory allowances must be made for the lapse of time between the collation of the information and the publishing date. County Directories can give valuable topographical details of the towns and help to build up a picture of what life was like for the inhabitants.

The Institute has approximately one thousand 19th and 20th century directories both original and microfiche copies. In order to aid locating the directories they have been numbered and a location code used. The Directories are split into three separate numbering systems due to their location in the Library.

Pre 1900 County and Town Directories are housed in the County Library on the first floor and are arranged chronologically. Their numbers are not prefixed.

Post 1900 County Directories are housed on the ground floor corridor and are arranged chronologically. Their numbers are prefixed with a C

Post 1900 Town Directories are housed on the ground floor corridor. Their numbers are prefixed with an T.

The microfiche copies of the Directories are housed with the microfiche collections for each county.

The Directories are on open access, however, many of the originals are in a fragile condition, therefore photocopying is only permitted by a trained member of staff. This is discretionary depending on the condition of the work. A postal search can be carried out by a member of staff and is charged at the library search rate of £15.00 per half hour.
